RE: STEPPING STONE; AL MUNTAZIR SCHOOLS & A³ INSTITUTE, FIRST EDUCATION PROVIDERS IN TANZANIA TO BE ACCREDITED BY ISO

Al Muntazir School campuses are among the most impressive in Dar es Salaam where the utilization of modern teaching and learning resources, coupled with a beautiful and aesthetically pleasing environment, reflects the schools' commitment towards ensuring quality education

Providing unique opportunities to all their students for individual advancement and achievement, the Al Muntazir schools & A³ Institute network stands successful today, not only on its own merits, but also on the ability of its students to be innovative, productive, and reflective individuals and members of society.

Education is very dynamic, as it depends on demands of its beneficiaries. Education providing institutions need not only realize the dynamism of education provision, but also have to foresee future demands and changes, and plan accordingly to at least stay abreast of these changes if not to lead in the changes.

Mr. Shiraz Walji (Chairman KSI Jamaat DSM), presenting Mr. Anwar Dharamsi (Chairman Africa Federation) with the ISO certificate during the 74th Supreme Council Session of The Federation of K S I Jamaats of Africa Dar es Salaam – April 2013

Al Muntazir schools have experienced this ongoing evolution, from our humble beginnings to where we are. In recognition of the needs of our beneficiaries, we have expanded our campuses and facilities, increased our students' population and supplemented these changes by recruiting the right core-academic and academic-support personnel.

As we continue to grow further, the need for a standardized, systematic approach to our quality systems and processes is inevitable. To better define our processes and have a standardized approach at all school campuses,

The Al Muntazir schools & the A³ Institute have adopted the ISO 9001:2008 to better its Quality Management Systems, which are also based on the eight management principles.

ISO 9001:2008 is the International Standard for Quality Management Systems (QMS).

It provides a set of principles that ensure a common sense approach to the management of academic activities to consistently achieve customer satisfaction by providing our customers with the best education.

Some of the benefits of implementing ISO within the school system:

- There is a common, understood system including consistent and repeatable processes.
- The schools functions in a disciplined and systematic way.
- There are fewer failures in quality of service or product.
- People are clear about what to do and how; they don't have to spend time 'making things up' or 'finding things out' or reinventing wheels.
- You know more quickly if things are going wrong, and where.
- You stop spending money or time on the same old problems. Because many have been resolved permanently, and if another comes up, you now have a process and the resources and skills to identify & fix it.
- Better management control and reporting - you know how your institute is doing and what to look at.
